

Local Home Builder Heritage Custom Builders Receives National Award for Home Design

PAW PAW MI: In a ceremony that took place at the Building Systems Council's annual Fall Showcase conference and trade show in Washington, DC, Heritage Custom Builders was recognized as a Home of Distinction in the category of Excellence in Home Design for a modular home between 3,001 and 4,000 square feet. Presented by the Building Systems Council (BSC) and the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) 2015 Jerry Rouleau Awards for Excellence in Marketing and Home Design are seen as the pinnacle of achievement in the system-built housing industry.

This award winning residential vacation home was built in gated community in South Haven Michigan and completely customized by the home owners.

"The entire team here at Heritage Custom Builders is extremely excited about this terrific honor and national recognition," said Tim Cassidy of Heritage Custom Builders. "The use of modular building systems is the future of housing and we are thrilled to bring attention to this method of home construction at a national level. Projects like the South Haven home are a prime example of the quality and time efficiency that can be achieved through the use of modular construction"

For more than a decade, the Building Systems Council (BSC), a division of the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB), has promoted excellence in the systems-built industry. The Jerry Rouleau Awards for Excellence - acknowledge building systems professionals in the categories of exceptional home design and marketing materials - are seen as the pinnacle of achievement in advancing the marketing and technology of building systems.

Tim Cassidy is also custom home builder, owner of Cassidy Builders. He utilizes system home building throughout Michigan. Since the company's inception in 1996 Heritage Custom Builders has built over 400 homes. The company specializes in custom residential construction.
